In Your Emails

When sending emails to your customers and prospective customers, be sure to include the award prominently. Let them know that you appreciate their feedback and that you shine at customer satisfaction.

Through PR Outreach

Have your PR team implement our recommendations, including a sample press release you can publish yourselves to promote your win.

In Print Ads

Bizrate Insights Circle of Excellence Award winners may include the award in their catalogs, print ads, business cards, or flyers.

On Banner Ads

If you promote your site with banner advertising, you may include the Bizrate Insights Circle of Excellence Award in your advertisement(s). Additionally, you can include your winner status in Google AdWords.

Social Media

Create social media posts to promote your win and include your award in social cover photos and your company bio.

All awards should be linked to a specially created award page on our site, BizrateSurveys.com. The page allows your customers and prospective customers to verify your winning status. The code we provide for the award already does this.

Advertising and News Release Guidelines

Use the following description when referring to the Bizrate Insights Circle of Excellence:

The Bizrate Insights Circle of Excellence recognizes those online retailers within the Bizrate Insights North America Network who have demonstrated outstanding performance, as rated by their customers, throughout a one-year period. Winners continuously obtained feedback from their customers throughout the award year and received ratings that are statistically significantly above the Bizrate Insights North America Network average. The ratings are from direct feedback, collected at the point-of-sale and after the delivery of goods, from customers concerning eight key satisfaction indicators:

Point-of-Sale Metrics

- Overall Satisfaction
- Product Selection
- Checkout
- Ease of Finding Products

Post-Order Fulfillment Metrics

- Repurchase Intent
- Product Met Expectations
- On-time Delivery of the Order
- Customer Support Assistance

Recognized, earned, and awarded are the standard verbs for use with claims to the Bizrate Insights Circle of Excellence. Named, raised, voted, judged, elected, etc. may not be used.
